

HEXTON

modern | contemporary

Park House Houston is thrilled to welcome Hexton Gallery presenting the artist Liz Nielsen as our third rotating art show. Liz's show, A Place Like This, will run through June, 2025.

Liz Nielsen's work resides on the border between photography and painting. Her fascinating process involves preparing different paper cutouts and rehearsing her movements before entering the darkroom. Her process is a contemporary interpretation of a primitive photographic technique that does not involve a camera, positioning her as a pioneer in this field. Her one-of-a-kind images are not mere representations but rather luminous manifestations of abstraction, where the physical process is as vital as the resulting work. While she works in the dark, there's a moment of surrender. Much like in real life, we aim at a particular direction with an idea of what we might find, but results can be unpredictable. We learn how to anticipate and adjust, but an element of the unknown is always present.
